A scheme is now being agitated in various parts of this state for naming the country roads and numbering the farm houses as houses are numbered in the cities—putting up sign boards at the corners, and in fact, making it in every way possible easy to find a given point in the rural districts. The idea is feasible and worthy of being put into practice.

W. J. Tuffield, of Sarnia, has opened out a bakery in Sexton's building just north of the railroad track where he keeps on hand a full stock of fresh bread, cakes, pies, confectionery, etc. Mr. Tuffield understands his business and will no doubt enjoy a large trade. The bread he makes is excellent as we are the recipient of two loaves, one made from white flour, the other from graham.

The January number of Lippincott's Magazine is an exceptionally brilliant one. The complete novel, "Millicent and Rosalind," is contributed by Julian Hawthorne, author of "Garth," "Squire," "Archibald Malmaison," etc., and is the brightest, cleverest and most interesting story that this popular author has yet written. The heroines of the romance are two bright and charming English girls, and the story of their lives is most entertainingly told. All the characters in the novel are skillfully portrayed, and the reader is introduced to a delightful circle of acquaintances, with whom he is very loath to part company. A striking likeness of Mr. Julian Hawthorne serves as a frontispiece, and there is an illustration to the story, representing Rosalind and her lover in a garden, which is one of the most exquisite pictures that has appeared for many a day.

Did you see those gents' fine slippers for 50c. at Holden & Waring's? Just the thing for a Xmas gift.

"A beautiful bouquet of nasturtiums, sweet peas, poppies, pinks, sweet eysium, petunias, rose geraniums, etc., is on our table. The lovely bouquet was presented to the editor by Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson, in whose well kept garden the flowers were raised. O, you eastern people shivering before your coal fires, harken unto this: The Wilson flower garden has been famous all summer for its beauty."—The above item has appeared twice in a "reliable and newsy paper" published not many miles from here, as original. We herewith give proper credit, as to allow the public to be misled would be wrong. The item referred to was taken from the Puyallup (Washington) Citizen. For all the latest and most reliable news take THE EXPOSITOR.

A terrible accident occurred in a sand pit one mile south of Onard, Sanilac county, on the 11th. John, Alexander and Dougall McKellar and Frank Bartlett were engaged in shoveling out the sand when the pit caved in, burying and crushing the two brothers John and Alexander in its sandy grave and engulfing the other two up to their arm pits. The latter managed to dig themselves out but by the time the others were reached, life in both was extinguished. John McKellar was about 23 years of age and had been married but a short time. Alex, was to have been married the 12th, but the day of his wedding was, instead, the day of his funeral. Both young men were highly respected and had many friends, whose hearts are saddened by their woeful and untimely death.

Now that everybody is looking about them to see what Magazine they will take for the coming year, we would advise them to inquire into the merits of Demorest's Family Magazine. We have just received the January number of this wonderful publication, and cannot speak too highly in its praise. It is certainly what its name implies, A Family Magazine; for in it will be found something to amuse or instruct every member of the family. The first article telling how Uncle Sam's Paper-Money is made, is beautifully illustrated, and furnishes the most interesting information on the subject that we have ever seen. "The Infant Monarch of Europe" is not only illustrated with their portraits, but with those of their parents as well; "The Undying Voice" is a finely illustrated article about Edison's wonderful Phonograph, and includes a portrait of the inventor himself. The children will be delighted with "Snow Sculpture," which gives them models enough to keep them busy all winter. Besides these, there are "Until One O'clock" (A Comedietta), "Scarlet Fever and other Contagious Diseases, their Causes and Treatment," "Aids to Beauty," "Manic Belles," "Wedding Breakfasts," "All Sorts of Teas," "Home-made Candies," "Anecdotal History of the Table," and numerous other articles and stories, also a fine Fashion Department; and all beautifully embellished with over two hundred illustrations, the crowning one of which is "A Parisian Florist's," a handsome oil picture, well worthy of a frame. The mystery is how such a publication can be furnished for only $2.00 per year. It is done however, by W. Jennie Demorest, 15 East 16th St., New York.
